Malnutrition in all its forms is a global burden that affects almost every country in the world, leading to serious public health risks and incurring high economic costs.

Improvements in nutrition will contribute significantly to reducing poverty and to achieving in health, education, and employment goals (Global Nutrition Report, IFPRI, 2014).

Nutrition stimulates economic growth, which improves the mental health and physical productivity of the labor force.

By considering National Nutrition Program (NNP) of Ethiopia, we are planed and took a part in alleviate nutrition-based problem in Ethiopia.

GABANA FOOD PARK SUPPORTIVE STAKEHOLDERS

The Food Park Project is an inclusive concept which is aimed at establishing direct linkages from the farm to processing and on to the consumer markets, through a network of collection centers and ensure maximizing value addition, minimizing wastage, increasing farmers' income and creating employment opportunities particularly in rural sector.

To improve malnutrition detection and care, a government-led technical working group supported by the World Health Organization (WHO) recently revised and updated the National Guideline for the Management of Acute Malnutrition.

The new guideline was launched on June 25th, 2019 by Dr Lia Tadesse, State Minister of the Federal Ministry of Health, who noted that "nutrition is now getting the attention it deserves. Launched the first ever Food and Nutrition Policy in 2018, and the guideline which is expected to benefit children and mothers greatly when properly implemented.
